"Senior Week" Under Way

Annual Assembly On Tuesday, Invitational Dance In Evening

With "Senior Week" at the high school well under way, the school office reported Monday that the official list of candidates for graduation will not be available until sometime Tuesday.

Final examinations were started last week at the school and all of the grades on the examinations will not be complete until sometime tomorrow.

Senior Week opened Saturday with the annual excursion of the graduating class to Lake Tahoe. Approximately ninety students made the trip and were accompanied by Mrs. Raleigh Bryan, Mrs. Ethel Smith, Mrs. Jack Corker and Mrs. Ruby Wright, of the mothers' group; and by Thomas Chard, H. N. T. Schultz, Miss Elizabeth Harper and Miss Mary Wilkinson, of the faculty.

The valedictorian service was held Sunday evening at the school auditorium and the speaker was the Rev. Rex A. Barron, who gave a very able address. A number of relatives and other friends of the graduates joined with them in attending the service.

New student officers for the coming year will be seated and the various awards won during the year will be presented at the annual Senior Assembly, at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon at the school. At this time, also, the Senior Class gift to the school will be presented.

In the evening the annual Senior Ball will be held at the auditorium. Admission will be restricted to those who are formally invited to attend.

This will be the concluding event of the week prior to the commencement exercises, to be held at the school auditorium on Thursday evening.

El Dorado County Girl Graduates At Chico

Among those who will graduate at Chico on June 8th is Dolores Evans Johnson, whose home address is Placerville.

Mrs. D. W. Robinson and sons returned over the weekend from a week's visit with relatives and other friends at Portland, Oregon.

Donner Lions Meet Tuesday Night In City

The regular Tuesday meeting of Placerville Lions has been postponed from noon until in the evening when the members of the local den will "roar" with the members of Donner Council of Lions.

This will be the annual meeting of Donner Council and an election of officers will be in order.

The Donner Council meeting of Placerville Lions will convene at Hotel Raffles at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night. Placerville Lion President H. E. Dillinger said the late hour of starting had been arranged to permit of the arrival of the council members who will be coming from a distance.

LEGISLATURE NEARS END

Session May Close In Amount Two Weeks; Budget Cut Only $15,000,000

By A. G. THURMAN
SACRAMENTO—At last the budget is out of the way, approved by both houses and by the time this paper goes to press it will undoubtedly have been signed by the Governor. The total decrease in the budget as originally presented by the Governor amounts to approximately $15,000,000. With the budget out of the way it is likely that the adjournment can now be set for either June 15th or 17th.

Joint rules of the Senate and Assembly require two weeks to finish up the business after the Governor has signed the budget. This week the various revenue measures are being heard in the lower house. Undoubtedly the economy group which were responsible for cutting down the budget will oppose some of the revenue measures in an endeavor to keep down taxes.

Several bills affecting the rural area and which if they had passed would have been injurious to the Sixth Assembly district in particular were defeated on the floor of the Assembly last week. Your representative opposed these measures in the debate on the floor. Among these bills was one by Assemblyman Dills, a school teacher from Southern California. This bill proposed a board of three members to be appointed by the Governor to set up a voluntary wage scale for agriculture. Your assemblyman took the lead in the fight against this bill with the statement that until the farmer could be guaranteed a price for his product it was inconsistent to pass a law which would set up any such board to determine the wage scale the farmer should pay. Other Assemblymen including Seth Millington of Gridley and Earl Desmond of Sacramento (Continued on page 3)

GRANGE FRIENDS SPEND SUNDAY ON PICNIC WITH DR. SHEPARD

Dr. S. B. Shepard was host Sunday to a number of his friends in Sacramento Grange No. 12, of Sacramento, at a picnic outing at the Shepard ranch at Fruit Ridge. The gathering is an annual occasion in which the friends of the doctor from the valley Grange unite to spend the day visiting and sharing with Dr. Shepard for the day the advantages of his residence in rural El Dorado County.

Among those who spent the day at the Shepard ranch were Mrs. L. A. Picht, Mrs. M. L. Michael, Mrs. E. R. Chase, Mrs. Johanna Cochran, Ada Cochran, Mrs. Caroline Reese Sam Hansen, Josephine Haug, Adah B. Sanders, Edwin Chase, Thersia Kettleson, Addie E. Maynard, Carrie Berriesford, Grace N. Chase, Melvin L. Michael, F. Chase, Leora Chase, Melvin L. Michael, Addie Sanders, Mark T. Hunt, E. R. Chase, Alvin Beach, Mrs. Beach, Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Sadie Hayward.

All voted the day pleasantly and well spent.

Walter A. Adams Fined $200 For Drunk Driving

Arrested over the weekend on a charge of drunken driving and found guilty at a hearing Monday morning before Police Judge Eugene Creed, Walter A. Adams was fined $200 and given the alternative of serving 100 days in jail. He paid the fine. Adams was arrested by City Officer D. W. LeBourveau.

12 LAND USE PROBLEMS

Survey In County Is Summarized At Meeting On Friday

El Dorado County has twelve major problems in land use, it was determined at a meeting at the Farm Advisor's office on Friday evening.

The twelve problems will be set forth in a report to the state Agricultural Conservation Association at Berkeley. The report was drafted at the Friday evening meeting of the county land use problems committee, which had been appointed in connection with the Agricultural Economics Conference held in Placerville last fall.

Since that conference, members of the committee have appeared before meetings in seven sections of the rural county and have asked those meetings to enumerate the land use problems in their particular district.

These seven reports were all available to the committee in formulating the report on the county as a whole.

The problems in land use which were listed in the county report include:

The need for the development of more water at lower rates;

The need for the eradication of brush;

Pasture and range improvement;

Weed control; Rodent Control and ion Control; Game conservation;

Erosion Control;

Game conservation;

The return of small farms in the semi-dry farming areas to timberland and to large scale grazing;

The lack of diversification of farm and range crops;

A lack of proper financing;

High cost of marketing; and a proper instruction in forestry management as particularly related to the handling of woodlot areas and private holdings of second growth timber.

The report, of which this is the outline, when submitted to the Berkeley office of the Conservation Association, will in turn become a part of a report on the state as a whole.

Mine Assessment Law Explained

Work Started By July 1 Will Hold Claims For Year, Says Nordenholt

SACRAMENTO—George D. Nordenholt, state director of natural resources, says holders of unpatented mining claims in California will be able to hold their properties for the coming fiscal year starting July 1st provided they have started the required annual assessment work of $100 in improvements of labor before that date.

The director said he is making the announcement to eliminate confusion which has developed through contradictory information issued by governmental bureaus.

Nordenholt added: The courts have held that if the required work is started before the end of the fiscal year ending at noon, July 1st, and continued thereafter with "due diligence" until completed, the requirements of the statute will be fulfilled.

Kitchen Charm

Come into the kitchen, Mary. Be kitchen minded and make this culinary room one of the pleasantest in your home. You spend more hours there than in any other—why not make these delightful?

With your newly developed kitchen instinct, give this utility chamber the "once over." Has it windows enough to admit air and sunshine and present a cheering view outside? Are the walls and curtains of an attractive color?

Have you enough cupboards, conveniently arranged, to hold all your pots, pans and gadgets so that they will not be strewn about in unsightly array? If not, you can now buy ready-made cupboards to fit any space and of any wished-for design.

If you can't spend much money on it, coax the good man to spend a few hours there with hammer and saw, and make it a happy hobby to revamp that kitchen to suit you both. The test will be whether he likes to help you wipe dishes on Sunday night. Paint is cheap. You can work wonders with a brush and a gallon of it.

Trifles which make the kitchen more attractive are glass hooks instead of nails to hang things on, a brass rod instead of a string upon which to stretch the curtain and a new place for much of the clutter behind doors or in the depths of drawers.

Fashions, Fads, Foibles

The apron is one of the oldest garments worn by women, and one of the latest fads. It is the most humble garment, social high-lights often being ashamed to appear in one outside their house door, but just now it has hopped into top style.

Fashionable designers are using the traditional apron as a leading feature of their best dresses. It is usually made of some color in the foundation dress, so that it seems a natural part of the outfit. It has a bodice and may be single or a double decker. This accessory is a good way to change a dress you wish to bring up to date. Being detachable, it may be worn at times, and omitted at others.

Lace daytime dresses are more popular than ever. They are made of durable goods and worn for utility, as well as for dress-up.

For traveling there is nothing better than spun rayon, foulard or crease-resistant linen.

Strawberry Jam

Wash berries and measure sugar and berries, cup for cup. Put over low fire and after it begins to boil, simmer slowly for ten minutes. Put in crock and let stand for a few days until it thickens. Stir occasionally and then put it into jars and cover with paraffin.

Meat Cookery

Meat from young animals is tender. The connective tissue grows tougher with age. Such meat is less expensive, and if cooked well, may be made delicious. It is as rich in nourishment and tender as more expensive meat. Such pieces are chuck, brisket, plate, rump and flank.

To cook them, first pound to break up the connective tissue, or cut them into small pieces. Pound flour into them to save the juices and flavor, then brown the meat in hot fat to give it a good taste. Turn the heat low, add a little boiling water and simmer until the connective tissue has been converted into gelatin. To add a little acid—as tomatoes, vinegar, sour cream or lemon will help to dissolve the connective tissue. The addition of vegetables or spicy herbs will improve the flavor.

Tender meat is first browned, then cooked for a short time without adding water. Since meat is a protein food and proteins are hardened by high temperatures, it is always best to cook meat at a low temperature.

Playing Hostess

The ideal hostess provides everything desirable for the comfort of her guests; well-balanced food; a comfortable bed, clean, of course; a room provided with all the necessities; ample bath facilities, including enough bath towels and cloths and sufficient privacy; such entertainment as is desirable and of a type to suit the taste of the guest—but then she lets her visitor have some time to herself, to collect her wits, rest from her journey, and do what her own will dictates. She is not always waiting on the guest rushing her about, killing her with kindness or embarrassing her with attentions.

Mrs. Solomon Says:

Use brussels sprouts promptly. The outer leaves deteriorate rapidly, causing great waste if kept on hand too long.

Tooth-brush Cleanliness

A new toothbrush should be soaked for several hours in water in which salt and soda are dissolved, before it is used. To keep it sterilized this process should be frequently repeated. After soaking, let the brush dry with the salt and soda in it. This is a disinfectant. Salt and soda in the water used for brushing the teeth and as a mouth wash would help to destroy the germs so prevalent in the mouth and to keep the teeth healthy. Certainly the remedy is simple enough to become common usage.

Table Linens

With fiesta pottery or bright tones or with any gay or strong colored dishes, plain and neutral colored table linens are desirable. The simpler and less conspicuous the tableware will show up. Too much color is confusing Chinese mats, such as are now available in our stores, are appropriate with colorful dishes. One can make effective dolles and place-strips of ecru linen, striped ticking or any loose weave cotton fabric. These may be hemmed, the edges fringed, whipped with a contrasting thread or finished with rick-rack braid.

SCOTLAND YARD BLOCKS SOURCE OF TIPS TO CROOKS

LONDON, (UP)—Audacious methods are being used by crooks in Britain to learn secret ways used by Scotland Yard to catch them.

Scotland Yard chiefs have learned that police have been instructing crooks for several weeks on crime detection.

The blunder was discovered when a London police station inspector asked the criminal records office at Scotland Yard for the file of an arrested man.

Startled officials found that the man, who had a long list of previous convictions, was a member of the Police War Reserve. As a part of his training he must have been shown the inner workings of the Yard, including the information room, nerve center of crook-catching, and the map room, where colored flags denote the prevalence of crime in different areas.

He would also have been instructed in police methods of trapping offenders, and would have had access to official instructions.

A quick survey strengthened the suspicions of Yard officials that the man was not the only crook who had taken advantage of police information to break the law.

Hitherto recruits for the reserve have only had to fill in a form and pass a medical test. There has been no investigation of character. Orders have now been issued to close this loophole in the regulations.

For Refuse

The latest type of refuse consumer is a grinding affair into whose hungry maw you dump everything except tin cans, bottles and fish shells. Press a button and the barbage, bones and all, are ground so fine that they go through the sink drain pipe without one clog.

Fireless Cooker

A homemade fireless cooker may be devised from two lard cans and old newspapers. One can, smaller than the other, is set inside the larger one, and the space underneath and between is packed with shredded newspapers. A pad of many thicknesses of papers is laid over the top of the inside can.

Food Ideas

Do not combine too many fruits or vegetables in a salad or a cocktail. Better a few combined flavors than a hodge-podge of nobody-knows-what.

Most housewives cook their vegetables too long, thus making them give up their mineral salts and vitamins and having a strong, rather than delicate, flavor.

Parsley Butter

Parsley butter is made by creaming together equal amounts of butter and chopped parsley and adding lemon juice. This is dotted over cooked vegetables, which are also seasoned with salt, pepper and perhaps paprika.

June

The little bird sits at his door in the sun.
A-tilt like a blossom among the leaves,
And lets his illumined being o'errun
With the deluge of summer it receives.
His mate feels the eggs beneath her wings,
And the heart in her dumb breast flutters and sings.
He sings to the wide world and she to her nest,
In the nice ear of nature, which song is the best?

—Lowell.

LEGION DAY AT VETERANS HOME TO BE MARKED ON JUNE 11TH

VETERANS HOME—Memories of their service days will be revived here on Sunday, June 11, when the members of 168 American Legion posts, in 34 northern California counties, representing more than 25,000 members of the great World War organization, meet here in the annual observance of "Legion Day." Indications are that virtually every post within the ten northern districts of the state will send one or more representatives to assist Department Commander Henry Walters, officers of the home and leading members of other veteran units in the program of entertainment to be offered the disabled men now here.

Commander Don L. Bass, of the 6th district, who heads the committee in charge of the affair, has laid particular stress on the noonday assemblage, when those present will spread their basket lunches under the trees at Memorial Grove. It is there that, in song and story, the visitors will re-live the days of 1917-1919 when they served in one or the other of the armed services of their country.

ramento opposed the bill during the debate. The vote lost by a vote of 21 ayes to 44 nays.

Last Friday another bill affecting the rural counties was defeated, Assemblyman Charles Weber of Stockton, a civil engineer, endeavored to pass a bill in the lower house requiring counties to employ engineers instead of county surveyors. The various rural representatives opposed the bill with the result that it lost by the following vote: ayes 19, nays 38.

On Saturday Assemblyman Rosenthal brought up his bill, AB 104, the second of his so called peaceful picketing bills. It was a companion bill to AB 105 which lost two weeks ago by a vote of 38 to 31. The bill would have amended the civil code and like its companion bill would have prevented counties and cities from passing anti-picketing laws.

Another bill affecting the small rural counties was defeated last week. The bill which was introduced by Assemblyman Desmond of Sacramento would have forced every applicant for a contractor's license to post a cash bond of $1500 with the state conditioned upon his compliance with all the provisions of a section of the labor code affecting claims against the contractor. The bill lost by a vote of 40 to 25.

Still another bill which would have added to the tax burden of the state and counties, AB 1511 by Atkinson, was defeated actually three times last week due to reconsiderations. This bill would have amended the school code. It would have granted teachers, who were absent for five school months or less due to illness, to be paid full pay for the first six days of their absence and at the rate of $3.00 per day thereafter. On none of the roll calls did the bill receive more than 25 favorable votes.

DOG CATCHER LOSES

MIDDLETOWN, R. I., (P)—The stork is quicker than the dog catcher. When Leroy W. Peckham was called to pick up a stray dog, he acted promptly. But even so, he was late. Instead of one dog, he found a canine mother with 11 puppies awaiting him.

Palo Verde Valley has 340 acres of cantaloupes ready for harvest.

4 CLEARED ON GOLD CHARGES

$320,000 over a twenty-five month period.

The government contended a large part of this gold was purchased from highgraders and delivered to the mint as having come from the Fuller and Amador Queen Mines near Jackson.

Though acquitted in this series of charges, George and Frank Fuller must face trial on another indictment of conspiracy to violate the Gold Reserves Act.

The Fullers and five others—Louis Rufino, Steve Tofanelli and Joe Podesta of Jackson and Dan Levin and Edward Friedman of San Jose—appeared in the federal court to enter pleas on the indictment, but the cases were set over one week on the notice of counsel of a motion to shift the trial of the Fullers, Rufino and Tofanelli to Sacramento.

S. Luke Howe, attorney for the Fullers, said they will plead not guilty and similar pleas are expected from the other defendants. An eighth defendant, Aaron Hoffman, of Los Angeles, will plead in the southern Federal court district.

THE Book Mark

By JANE VOILES

One of the most satisfying books that has come our way this season is Dr. Anne Walter Fearn's book—"My Days of Strength." Bred in the South Anne Fearn had all the social instincts of the Southerner but she also had a deep desire to serve people. She upset her family by studying medicine when a career was considered a highly unladylike pursuit especially for a Southern girl. She went to Shanghai to practice for a year or two, remained for forty years and officiated at the birth of 6,017 babies. You may have read that Dr. Fearn died a few weeks ago in Berkeley. Before her death, she had the satisfaction of seeing her book on its way to becoming a best seller.

Sound training and courage were not quite enough to make a success of practicing medicine in China. Another prerequisite was needed, an understanding heart for a woman doctor had many tragedies to face. How Dr. Fearn pioneered in medicine in tradition-bound China makes exciting reading. Sanitation was practically an unknown quantity in the place where Dr. Fearn began her work. Only the theory of germ saturation explained the continued existence of the Chinese, "but the weakest went to the wall, obeying the relentless laws of survival."

Stirring events were happening in China while Dr. Fearn was there. She saw the completion of the Szechow railway, the fall of the Manchukuo government, the White Russian invasion, and the more recent struggles of China against Japanese aggression. Then there is the story of her own private life, her marriage to Dr. John Fearn, the establishing of her own Sanitarium and the moving account of her little daughter Elizabeth who was with her for only five years, but who left a legacy for the poor children of China, a tree with gifts at Christmas time which her mother never failed to carry out.

With an eye for the humor of situations, Dr. Fearn supplies you with a fund of anecdotes. There is the story about the never ceasing vigilance that must guard native servants. A friend was giving a tiffin party and was going to serve celery, a delicacy in Shanghai. Going to the kitchen, the friend found her house-boy "cheerfully scrubbing the celery with a toothbrush." When she demanded an explanation, the boy defended himself with an aggrieved air, "Mississee, I talkee you true, this no b'long your toothbrush, his b'long my toothbrush."

Then there are the incidents happening to her very dear friend, Dr. Margaret Polk, who was a rabid teetotaler. Dr. Polk had a trunk repaired at a Chinese shop and received a bill which read as follows: "To Dr. Polk for one big drunk, two dollars." Or when Dr. Polk, the only woman with four men, was appointed to serve on a committee of the Moral Welfare Society, the Chinese press reported "The committee consists of four adults and one adultress."

As you read Dr. Fearn's book, you become aware that she had an inner urgency for achievement. She had a talent for living and her very eagerness communicates itself to the reader. She was forever being called upon to meet all kinds of major emergencies—no less than flood, pestilence, famine and war. Prejudice and superstition had to be overcome. Money had to be raised for the unceasing demands to help human beings who must be aided. She never spared herself, driving her body mercilessly. "It was a fight, it was excitement and I reveled in it," she writes. You will like Dr. Fearn's book. She was the very epitome of these lines—

"God gives each man one life like a lamp

Then gives that lamp due measure of oil,

And to remain in the Chinese American atmosphere, let us call your attention to a delightful little book written by the daughters of the famous Lin Yutang, "Our Family" was written by Adet aged 16, Anor, 13, with a foreword and comments by Meimei who is seven and a half. They give frank candid-camera portraits of their parents and friends as well as of one another. For example they say of their fathers "He loves to go to little shops and look around but he saves money by not buying every time. They have fun at the expense of their father's iron clad stomach, as he eats at all hours, often indulging in fried eggs at midnight. Father's little vanities do not escape the youngsters, they note how he likes to match his shirt and tie. It is an amusing little book and not without its bits of wisdom.
